

SAY!

(By CHARLES J. ARNOLD)

Well, it is all over and this is the best way to figure it. Tunney is a million dollars to the good; Dempsey has an additional $450,000; Rickard the promoter has at least a million as profit, and—THE PUBLIC Paid.

There were several radio parties last night.

We wonder, if the $292 Andy turned back to the State will result in a state of tax reduction.

While a group of Greencastle men, in a barber shop, were discussing the Dempsey-Tunney fight, one of them told of what a fine $40 seat he has secured for the event. Berry Ernest, ever ready colored boy, standing nearby, heard the remark and ejaculated: "Boss, I'll sure turn 'round and wave at you."

M. E. Noblett, Secretary-Manager of the Hoosier State Automobile Association attempted to come to Greencastle Thursday morning, and he finally got here, but it was not until he had experienced the sensation of being lost. Lack of detour signs on the roads, which are under construction, which has for months been most annoying to motorists, was the cause of Mr. Noblett's predicament. He finally reached Greencastle however, and the first thing he did was to get busy with the county road officials. He pointed out a law requiring that detour signs be put up by the county road officials and provides a penalty for failure to do so. As the result the officials got busy and detour signs will soon blossom out on the by ways and highways necessarily traversed to get into Greencastle.

The "I told you so" prize fight fellow is in evidence today.

After you find it, it's a nice little town you have here, said M. E. Noblett, secretary of the State Automobile Association who got lost Thursday in attempting to drive from Indianapolis to Greencastle.

Next week is Fair week, and lets hope it is a fair week. Fair week last year was sure anything but a fair week. It certainly did rain much and hard.

Gene Tunney continues to hold his world championship heavyweight crown, following the dramatic battle staged Thursday night on Soldier's Field, Chicago. Tunney proved himself a clever and clean fighter while Dempsey the ex-champion and contented probably ended his fighting career in a characteristic fight of questionable tactics. As a mauler Dempsey retains his crown but as a fighter, Tunney is away out ahead.

Mayor John L. Duvall of Indianapolis, is occupying a peculiar position today. Convicted of violating the corrupt practices act he was fined $1,000, sentenced to jail for 30 days and held ineligible to hold any public office for a period of four years from November 2, 1925. Duvall will appeal his case, it is said, and by this legal step will be able to hold on to his office, during the pendency of his appeal.

Come on with you Jackson trial now. Let's hear what the Governor has to say. Here is hoping that he will not drag that old and faithful saddle horse back into the limelight.

They are convicting them regularly in Indianapolis, now.

Bill Remy, Marion county prosecutor is a former DePauw boy. Let's hope the DePauw football team this year shows the same old fighting spirit as Bill.

Wonder if Duvall will attempt to get some one to attempt to influence the Supreme court judges, in case his appeal reaches that court.

It is reported from reliable sources that Jack Dempsey has a badly discolored eye, or eyes today.

Well it will seem homelike for Superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League Shumaker to reside at the State Farm. He formerly attended DePauw. The schooling at the State Farm is not exactly the same as at DePauw.

CHALLENGER'S FAILURE TO RUSH TUNNEY AFTER CHAMPION CLIMBED TO FEET LOSES BATTLE

FIGHT EVEN UNTIL NINTH

Tunney Only Man Who Ever Went Down Before Manassa Mauler And Climbed To Feet

(By GEORGE BARRY)

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Gene Tunney did more last night than merely to make a successful defense of his title, for he gained the distinction of being the only man that ever went down before the onslaught of Jack Dempsey and then arose to go on to victory.

Without detracting from the glory of Tunney's victory, his brainy battle and his gameness it still must be said that he remains today as king in the fistie realms because of two things (1) a long, long count and (2) the inexplicable failure of Dempsey to rip and tear into him with finishing punches when, groggy and bewildered, he arose in a daze from the seventh round knockdown.

The claim of the Dempsey factions rattles to the high heavens today—and perhaps will forever continue to echo—over the count that Dave Barry, the referee, gave in Tunney's behalf.

Those who held stop watches say that Tunney was down for 14 seconds; others thought it 17 seconds. But the fact is rather indisputable that he was down more than ten seconds.

Dempsey drove a terrific left to Tunney's chin soon after the seventh started. Tunney started to crumple and Dempsey unleashed a right to the chin, then another crushing left and Tunney went down to the floor within a few feet of Dempsey's corner.

And then Dempsey instead of leaping into a neutral corner, stepped into his own.

The count started when Tunney went down. The referee happened to notice that Dempsey in the confusion of things had gone to his own corner. So he stopped the count and waved Dempsey to a neutral corner. No count was made while Dempsey was stepping across. When the referee was satisfied that Dempsey was well parked in that neutral corner, he started the count again—and started it with "one".

Tunney climbed up at "nine"—and then began back pedaling around the ring. Dempsey, the killer, pressed him closely, but one second followed another, and seconds merged finally into a minute and still Dempsey who might have finished Tunney with a cyclonic rush, kept stalking around, waiting for one good shot. While he waited, Tunney continued his bicycle riding and, eventually, his brain cleared and his legs steadied.

When Dempsey finally rushed in, perhaps a minute, perhaps longer, after Tunney had arisen from the floor the golden glorious opportunity for him to regain the much treasured crown, with its million dollar setting, was gone.

For the round was near its end and what little close punching Dempsey landed availed nothing.

There seems to be no explanation for Dempsey's failure to rush Tunney after he climbed to his feet except one of confidence that if he did not rail Tunney in that seventh he certainly could do it in the eighth. He must have felt that he had Tunney mortally wounded and that if he did not get him then he surely would succeed in the 8th, 9th or 10th.

But Tunney performed a mild comeback in the 8th and held Dempsey in check came with a great rally in the ninth and with a

WANTS FOUR MORE

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(INS)—By walloping four more homers in New York's six remaining games, Babe Ruth can shatter his great 1921 record. The big boy's 56th, which beat Detroit yesterday, was a tremendous wallop which nearly cleared the right field bleachers.

In addition to Ruth, National League home run artists also are on a rampage. Hack Wilson tied Cy Williams for the lead by hitting his 28th, and Rogers Hornsby bagged his 25th and 26th homers.

RODEO WILL DEPICT TRUE WESTERN LIFE

REAL PRODUCTS OF GREAT OPEN SPACES TO COMPETE FOR APPLAUSE OF PUTNAM COUNTY FAIR CROWDS—WILL RIDE BUCKING BRONCHOS OF OPEN RANGE

A genuine Rodeo is to be the feature of the Putnam County Fair, held in Greencastle September 29, 30 and October 1. The Rodeo will be staged at McKeen field. There will be a performance each afternoon and evening with seats at reasonable prices.

Here is a chance for a taste of real Western life. The cowboys and cowgirls who are to be here are true products of the great open spaces. They will ride their bucking bronchos; they will fight their steers; they will lasso their calves; and they will perform on their ponies in a way that is characteristically their own.

This Rodeo will be of the highest calibre. It recently filled an engagement at Lafayette, where it was enthusiastically accepted. The persons who are making up the group are the open-minded Westerners, who enjoy showing you their accomplishments as you enjoy seeing them.

Rodeos are gaining in popularity all over the United States. Every year in Chicago a Rodeo for the world's championship is held. Cowboys, cowgirls, Indians, their squaws, and papooses congregate at their own expense to compete for the large purses given for the various events. People in and around Chicago attend the performances in great numbers.

The steer fight will be an exciting part of the program. A steer is let loose, and a cowboy rides after it. When the cowboy is even with the steer, he jumps from his horse onto the ground, clutching the steer's horns. The cowboy must have the steer in his control and on the ground before he may give up the fight.

The fancy riding event will be interesting, too. The riders will go through many strange and daring feats just to gain the applause of the crowd.

These bucking bronchos are real ones that buck without being spurred. The contestants will ride them both with and without saddles. The rider must use only his right hand until the judge blows his whistle. If he puts both hands to the saddle he is disqualified.

Speed is the aim of the calf lassoing event. The calf is led into the field, and the cowboy rides after it. He must first lasso it, then tie three of its legs together with his lassoing rope.

Here is the real West of your dreams. Don't miss the opportunity that may not come your way again.

LEVINE HOPS OFF FOR INDIA EARLY FRIDAY

WILL ATTEMPT TO BREAK THE WORLD'S RECORD FOR SUSTAINED FLIGHT

DISTANCE TO GOAL 4,300 MILES

Miss Columbia To Be Kept Pointed East Until Gas Gives Out

CRANWELL AERODROME, Sleaford, Eng., Sept. 23.—(INS)—Charles A. Levine began his long-delayed attempt to break the world's record for sustained flight this morning when he hopped off in the trans-Atlantic monoplane Miss Columbia, for Karachi, India. Levine was accompanied by Captain Walter R. Hinchcliffe. The start was made shortly after 8 o'clock.

Levine originally intended to fly back to the United States in the same plane which carried him and Clarence D. Chamberlin to Germany from New York. Because of stormy weather over the Atlantic, he decided on September 15 to turn the nose of his plane eastward, and fly toward the Orient as long as his gasoline held out.

The Miss Columbia had been held in readiness for a long-distance flight for many weeks. Levine and Captain Hinchcliffe had been almost constantly at the aerodrome, awaiting favorable weather for their takeoff.

The distance from Sleaford to Karachi is approximately 4,300 miles.

ROCKVILLE ATTORNEY WILL BE ASKED TO MAKE THE RACE—EVANS WOOLLEN IS CHOICE FOR PRESIDENT—DISTRICT MEETING HELD IN TERRE HAUTE

John S. McFadden, Rockville attorney, and prominent Indiana Democrat, who has been active in State and district politics for many years, was endorsed for Governor by the Democrats of the Fifth Congressional District, at a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting held Thursday in the Hotel Fleming in Terre Haute.

A committee, consisting of the district chairmen of the district was named by Al Clark, of Cayuga, district chairman to wait upon Mr. McFadden and ask that he consent to allow the Fifth District Democratic organization to promote his candidacy.

Evans Woollen, of Indianapolis, was endorsed for President, and the Fifth District will stand solidly behind his candidacy.

Representatives for every county in the district attended the meeting. From Greencastle were Fay S. Hamilton, county chairman, Paul Albin, Harry Moore, C. C. Hurst, C. C. Gillen and Andrew Durham. Both Mr. Gillen and Mr. Durham are prospective candidates for Congressman from this district. Henry Moore of Terre Haute and Judge Waite of Clinton, two other prospective candidates for Congressman also attended the meeting.

Fay S. Hamilton, Putnam county chairman, was one of the speakers at the meeting. His suggestion is that the Democrats do not need as candidates representatives of any special group or creed but a DEMOCRAT who will assure the folks good government.

The meeting was enthusiastic and largely attended and showed much interest among Democrats in the approaching election.

MAYOR DUVALL SENT TO JAIL BY JURY VOTE

CONVICTION OF INDIANAPOLIS POLITICIAN VIEWED AS ONLY BEGINNING OF CLEANUP IN INDIANA

GOVERNOR'S FRIENDS DISMAYED

Attorneys Battle To Obtain New Trial From Sentence of 30 Days And Fine Of $1,000

(By EUGENE J. CADOU)

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 23.—The political thrones of Indiana were shaking today as the astounding fact that a politician of consequence had been sent to jail by a Marion county jury was digested. Conviction of Mayor John L. Duvall of Indianapolis on a charge of violation of the corrupt practices was viewed as only the beginning of Hoosierdom's long-delayed effort to purge itself of political corruption.

Duvall's attorneys today were battling to obtain a new trial to prevent the consummation of his sentence of 30 days in the Marion county jail and a fine of $1,000, with a proviso that the mayor shall not hold public office for four years from Nov. 2, 1925, the date of his violation of the corrupt practices act.

Unless the defense lawyers succeed in obtaining a reversal of the sentence, Duvall must yield his office. In this event, Claude F. Johnson, former chief of police, who a few days ago was named city controller by the mayor will become the city's chief executive. Johnson is a close political ally of Duvall.

Friends of Governor Ed Jackson, who is under indictment for attempted bribery of former Governor Warren T. McCray were dismayed at the mayor's fall after only three hours of debate in the jury room.

Jackson and Duvall were members of the same political group that came into power with the rise of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana. Both men were political buddies of D. C. Stephenson, former Klan grand dragon who yesterday took steps to obtain an appeal to the state supreme court from his conviction for the murder of Miss Madge Oberholtzer, pretty former Butler university co-ed.

The specific charge against Duvall was that he accepted $10,000 from William H. Armitage, former political boss of Indianapolis under the administration of Lew Shank as mayor, and agreed to allow Armitage to select three office holders who would control the expenditure of several million dollars in street paving and other public improvement.

Duvall, according to testimony, assured Armitage he would be permitted to name two of the three members of the board of public works and the city civil engineer. The engineer makes recommendations for awards of street paving contracts.

William H. Freeman and Ernest L. Kingston were to be the board of works members and Frank C. Lingenfelter, the engineer, under the Duvall-Armitage pact.

To prove the intent of Duvall in his political deals, evidence was introduced that Duvall was the maker of dozens of promises of appointments in advance of the election, a procedure in direct violation of the corrupt practices of Indiana.

Armitage, it was revealed, was in control of thousands of votes, chiefly among the 50,000 negroes living in Indianapolis.

Charges still are pending against William C. Buser, brother-in-law of Duvall, who was an alleged partner in some of the mayor's deals. When Duvall's political fortunes began to decline after charges were filed against him, Buser was removed from the office of city controller which he had held since January, 1926, and Johnson was substituted.

Indicted with Jackson were George V. Coffin, Republican chairman of Marion county; and Robert I. Marsh, former law partner of Jackson.

"I believe in love," she added, when interviewed by reporters on

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS TO DO PRACTICAL WORK

The Industrial Arts or Building Trades Class of Greencastle under the direction of H. A. Thomas has been reorganized to conform to State rules and regulations of this type of work.

The class is ready to take care of a number of projects including work in the masonry and carpentry lines particularly. Anyone residing within the Greencastle School territory limits desiring projects along these lines should communicate with Supt. Warren J. Yount or Mr.
 Thomas.

The aim of this course of instruction is to acquaint boys with the use of common tools used in building and give them a knowledge of methods of construction. The class is prepared to build for anyone during the winter months, hog houses, brooder houses, graneries, garages milk and poultry houses, etc., including both masonry and woodwork.

The class has already obligated itself to build a concrete block milk house to be started in the near future.

Any parent desiring to have his boy in this course should make arrangements with the Principal of the High School at once. The class is also doing some work in Architectural Drawing and some cabinet work and shop mathematics.

SHOOT A NICKEL!

Find Out What It Will Get You in a Mild and Fragrant Smoke. This is News

You've heard about cigars at five cents that are "worth twice as much." Perhaps you've had your doubts. Perhaps you've tried some of them and said "never again." But a whole of a good cigar can be produced to sell at 5c. A whole of a good cigar is being produced to sell at that price. Don't take our word for it. Smoking is believing. Figure that it's worth a nickel to settle this question once for all. Put that nickel on Havana Ribbon. If you don't like it you're out only 5c. If you do, you'll get acquainted with a cigar you can adopt for life.

Havana Ribbon sold at more than five cents for years. Volume went up, quality went up, and the price went down. That's where you win. All you invest is a nickel. Do it today and find out that a real smoke can be sold for five cents. Havana Ribbon has all the fragrance and mildness of ripe tobacco. It says "more" with every puff.

BOTH NON-STOP PLANES FAIL IN LONG HOP

FURSE OF $10,000 STILL WAITS AT SPOKANE FOR FIRST FLYER TO MAKE TRIP BY AIR FROM NEW YORK

FELTS FIELD, Spokane, Wash., Sept. 23 — (INS) — Disappointment was keen here today over the failure of both transcontinental planes in the Class C division of the New York-Spokane air derby to complete the race.

The planes, piloted by Eddie Stinson of Detroit, and C. A. "Duke" Schiller of Windsor, Ont., were both forced down in Montana after negotiating practically two-thirds of the distance in their projected non-stop flight from New York.

Stinson landed at Missoula, Mont., at 3:31 p. m. yesterday when his giant Stinson-Detroit developed engine trouble. A short time later, Schiller was forced down at Billings, Mont., on account of similar trouble.

A purse of $10,000 was waiting here for the first non-stop flier to negotiate the 2,300-mile course from New York.

Three planes were originally entered in the non-stop section of the national air derby, but only two of them Stinson's Detroit and Schiller's "Royal Windsor" were able to get off the ground Wednesday afternoon at Roosevelt Field, N. Y.

DEPARTMENT WILL HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Greencastle merchants have helped the Home Economics department of the University to furnish the new Home Management Cottage. This cottage, a six room apartment, 321 South Locust Street, has modern equipment.

The girls of the department live at the cottage for three and four week periods; this gives them an opportunity to really have charge of a household. Everything is run on a budget and the project is self supporting. The girls do their own buying, plan and serve their own meals. The table linen, luncheon sets and draperies were made by members of the department.

Those merchants who furnished the cottage without profit are: S. C. Prevo, J. P. Allen, J. A. Bamberger, Browning and Hammond Hardware, and Cook's Hardware.

The department plans to hold open house near the first of October and cordially invite all Greencastle people who are interested to visit this up-to-date home.

COLD WEATHER THIEVES BUSY THURSDAY NIGHT

Cold weather thieves were active in Greencastle Thursday night.

Early in the night a thief or thieves took all the side curtains from under the rear seat of a Ford Touring car belonging to Hugh Barnett.

Mr. Barnett had left the car parked in Vine street near the Tribby garage. When he looked under the seat for the curtains they were gone. Mr. Barnett is certain the curtains were taken Thursday night because he had occasion to look under the seat cushions Thursday and knew the curtains were there at that time.

Mr. Barnett had just put a new top on his Ford and was preparing to enclose the car for the winter when the thieves, with similar intentions evidently, beat him to the curtains.

PROF. TILDEN SAYS COLLEGE BETTERS IDEALS

Opening with a text which he said was based on "the old gray mare" and a comic strip from the Indianapolis News to the effect that "somebody is always taking the joy out of life," Prof. Francis C. Tilden gave a thought-provoking and stimulating talk in chapel, Friday, discussing the college graduate and his ideals.

He raised the question as to whether or not the college man had ideas and ideals any different from those of the bootlegger, and said: "The business of the college is to do this—to fix certain high ideals of life values, certain high ideals of political values, certain high ideals of human relation ships, and certain high ideals of the relation of the individual to the Divine, so that the world can't knock his college ideals out in four or five years after he leaves college. If we do what we claim to do, train for leadership, the college man will have ideals that do differ from those of the bootlegger."

"One of the most difficult things recorded in human life, is to keep from slumping back when a certain progress has been made," the professor said.

Quoting a statement to the effect that no civilized nation had yet survived material prosperity, he proceeded to examine the motive that would cause multitudes of people to travel to Chicago and spend millions of dollars on the fight, when no other cause of social, educational or religious nature could accomplish such an attraction.

Prof. Tilden spoke in a complimentary manner of recent editorials concerning the Dempsey-Tunney event; in the Indianapolis News, which referred to the danger that the American people are approaching.

SYNOPSIS

The sealing schooner "Sea Sprite" docks at Frisco after a voyage that has been a long hell to her skipper and crew. The crew are eager to leave the boat and seek the things they like best, liquor and women. Hurricane Haley himself, the skipper of the "Sea Sprite," has sworn that Frisco shall pay him for all his hardships, and he takes comfort from the thought. First, however, he decides that he will take care of the ship's boy, a little stowaway, and see him safely on the ferry to his home in Oakland. That done he would forget the sea he had learned to hate.

And he knew now that he was tired of the sea, and that he wanted to get away from the sight and smell of waves and wind.

"Carry my bag up, kid, and when you leave the boat, go home. No hanging around the docks, and if I catch you in Frisco after you've been off the boat an hour, I'll tan you within an inch of your life." Haley liked the kid and he really meant it, and the boy, glad that his long trip was over, grinned up at him before he replied, "Guess I'm going home alright. I want to see Ma—but this seal-skin ain't for her, and I guess that I got someone else looking for me."

Haley thought of Rawson, the cockney sailor, and the women that would wait for him. Then looking at the kid he smiled. "Look out you do, and when you get back on that farm of yours, stick to the pigs and chickens and forget the sea." The kid grinned, grabbed Haley's bag, and with a wouldbe joke was Jimmy, the cabin boy. In two strides Haley was amongst them and seizing the collar of the boy he shook him till his teeth rattled. Holding the kid by the collar he turned on the crew. "Which one of you swine gave this kid liquor?" he roared. No one answered and Haley turned to the frightened kid. "Who gave it to you?" he asked. The kid whimpered, then with a frightened glance at the crew he murmured, "It was Limey."

Haley's hand shot out and grasped the Cockney by the collar. "Did you give the boy this poison?" Limey, for all his habits, was no coward, and wriggling in Haley's grasp he snarled, "Well, what of it? I guess the kid knows what he wants. I ain't playing no wet nurse to no kid." Limey could be American when he wanted to.

Haley's fist shot out, and connected under the jaw of the sailor. Limey landed in the scupper, where he lay groaning. "You," Haley called to Kost, "take Limey with you, and if I find that you go anywhere before you put this kid on the Oakland ferry, as God's my judge, I'll be the last place that you ever go to. Get out, and hurry."

A watchman from the fur company clambered aboard as the crew left, and with his duties over for the time Haley followed with his bag, and stood on the docks of Frisco at last. Gazing back he looked at the tall spars of the "Sea Sprite." Damn it, he loved that little boat. There weren't so many top-sail schooners left, and the "Sea Sprite" could outlast the best of them. She'd do all right, but

"KONJOLA GAVE ME NEW HEALTH" SAYS GREENCASTLE LADY

Free of Miserable Neuritis Pains, She States; Praising New Medicine.

A promise of abundant health for hundreds of Greencastle people and deliverance from common ailments was made by The Konjola Man when he came to this city two weeks ago from unusual successes at Indianapolis, Cincinnati, and other large centers. His headquarters at the Owl Drug Store, 14 West Washington St., is the scene of large crowds calling throughout the day to find out about this surprising new medicine. At the same time, one report after another is being received at the Owl store from local men and women who have already been relieved of various disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and nerves by this new compound.

THE KONJOLA MAN

Mrs. Robt. Shuck, 508 South Illinois St., Greencastle, a popular church and social worker of this city, made a detailed report about Konjola in her case.

"Konjola gave me new health in every way," said Mrs. Shuck, "and besides ending my neuritis pains, this medicine also gave me wonderful relief from the stomach and kidney troubles I had been suffering for a long time."

"Neuritis was my worst trouble. It hung over me nearly five years. My arms and shoulders were affected, and at times by entire body felt like a solid mass of aches and pains. Many times I had to take opiates to deaden the pain in order to sleep. Most nights I would lie awake in misery for hours at a time. My stomach was so disordered that I nearly always suffered from nausea and frequent dizzy spells. The joints of my knees and ankles were swollen, due to kidney trouble, and my back was dreadfully sore and weak at all times."

"I read where the Konjola Man had reached Greencastle and I was one of the first to call on him. I began taking this medicine, and in a short while all the neuritis pains entirely disappeared. They have never come back on me, and I feel sure I have permanent relief. This alone is worth the world to me, because I had been doctoring for my trouble over four years. At the same time, Konjola improved my stomach, so that my digestion is better and I can enjoy my meals without the suffering I used to have before. The pains in my back are gone, my sleep is restful at nights. My appetite is increased."

"After the wonderful work of Konjola in my case, I strongly indorse this medicine to others who suffer." The Konjola Man is at the Owl Drug Store, 14 West Washington St., Greencastle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free sample given.—Adv.

hurricane burst of speed and a volley of punches in the final round. It was the decisive margin that Tunney scored in those two rounds—the 9th and 10th—that gave him victory.

For, as the statistics seemed to read at the end of the 8th, Tunney had won the 2nd, 4th and 5th Dempsey the 3rd, 6th and 7th with the first and the 8th even.

When Tunney climbed off the floor in the 8th it was 50 to 1 that he would win. When the 8th round had finished it was all even with the outcome depending on the 9th and 10th. And as Tunney rallied and came on with a great finish, Dempsey seemed to falter, to become leg and arm weary.

Age had exacted its toll from the efforts he made in the 7th and the 8th and the old saying about "They never come back," which Dempsey seemed absolutely certain of shattering in the 9th once again is proven correct.

It was youth and science that prevailed last night over lion hearted courage, great punching power—with a long count and a baffling lack of aggressiveness in the 7th when attack meant triumph, that lost for Dempsey and perpetuated Gene Tunney as King of the Heavies.

Fight by Rounds

The first blow of the opening round was attempted by Dempsey who missed a left swing, Tunney stepping nimbly aside. Tunney stabbed Dempsey with two rapid lefts to the face and he sparred around in the center of the ring for an opening. A right to the jaw drove Dempsey to the ropes. They were both fighting cautiously and went into several clinches without blows being delivered. It was Tunney's round, Dempsey failing to land a clean blow during the session.

In the second round Tunney met Dempsey with a straight left to the face. In a neutral corner Tunney sent over a right cross to Dempsey's jaw. In a clinch Dempsey sent a left to the body and a left short uppercut to the chin. It was his best blows up to this time. They sparred in the center of the ring and Tunney chopped Jack with left to jaw. They boxed in the center of the ring near the finish of the round and Tunney landed several clean blows to Dempsey's face. It was Tunney's round.

Dempsey scored the first real punch in the third round with a straight left to the midsection. In the clinch Dempsey chopped at the back of Tunney's head with short blows. They were in frequent clinches. Tunney scored with a left uppercut and right across to the jaw. One of Dempsey's blows was low and Tunney showed a pained expression. Dempsey landed two blows below the marine's heart, but Tunney retaliated with a right to the jaw. It was an even round.

Tunney used his left with lightning rapidity and jabbed Dempsey four times without a return. In a clinch Tunney complained of another low blow. They exchanged punches even in a clinch. Dempsey kept boring in but Tunney rocked him with rights and lefts to the jaw as the crowd roared. A solid right to the jaw sent Dempsey to the ropes. Dempsey appeared groggy. Another right to the jaw sent Dempsey to the ropes. It was a decisive Tunney round. Dempsey's seconds worked furiously with the smelling salts at the end of the session.

Dempsey backed away at the start of the round. Jack was wild with a left. Tunney repeatedly stabbed Dempsey with a straight left. As Dempsey was forced to the ropes, Gene missed a hard right. Dempsey was again back to the ropes where Tunney easily blocked blows to the midsection. They exchanged blows in the clinches. Tunney then stepped back and boxed, sending a left to Jack's face. Dempsey landed a clean left to Tunney's head but the champion came back vigorously. Dempsey was being outpointed better than two to one, but kept doggedly at his task. At the conclusion of the round Tunney staggered Jack with a right flush to the jaw. It was Tunney's round.

A right to the jaw sent Tunney to the ropes. He was up at the count of nine. Dempsey chased Tunney around the ring and Tunney kept out of his way. Tunney was running away and clearly in distress. Against the ropes Dempsey sent in several blows which looked low. Tunney continued to run around the ring. Dempsey missed a left and right which had knockout possibilities. There was more complaint of low blows by Dempsey as the round ended. It was Dempsey's round by a wide margin.

In the ninth Tunney hit Dempsey with three blows without a return. Tunney's right opened Dempsey's eye and he was bleeding profusely. Tunney sent Dempsey to the ropes. Tunney again rocked Dempsey and blood was dripping from both of Dempsey's eyes. Dempsey's face was a sorry sight. It was a decisive round for Tunney.

Tunney slipped to the floor as Dempsey led for the body. He was up immediately. Dempsey was making a furious battle to recover lost ground. Tunney pecked Dempsey repeatedly with a left jab, a blow for which Dempsey seemed to have no defense. He mixed this with a right to the head. They were in repeated clinches and Tunney kept shooting at Dempsey's bleeding eye. Dempsey was rocked with rights and lefts. It was Tunney's round.

The decision was given to Tunney.
